Version with markings to show changes made

In the claims:

Please amend claim 1 as follows:

1. (Amended) A method of providing video information to a display monitor [within an elevator located in a building], the method comprising:
  - receiving first data defining a category of video information, the first data being source non-specific;
  - receiving second data, associated with the category of video information and defining at least one source of the video information; and
  - retrieving from the source, over a data communications path and on the basis of the first data and the second data, the video information to be displayed on the display monitor [within the elevator]. --
